Privacy Policy

Version 1 (23 Oct 2013).

Previous versions may be accessed using the “Old Revisions” in the toolbar at right. Discussion and proposed changes are welcome on the Page Notes

Information Collected

This website stores your Internet Protocol (“IP”) address in server log files. These IP addresses may be used to identify you. The server log files are periodically purged.

Pages that you create or edit on this site will also contain your IP address. This information is stored along with the page's content.

Registration

This website does not require you to register; anyone can edit without logging in with a username. Such anonymous edites are identified by network IP address.

Users that do register are identified by their chosen username.

Cookies

Web cookies (also known as HTTP cookies, or just cookies) are parcels of text that are sent by a server to a Web browser, and then sent back unchanged by the browser each time it accesses that server. In other words, a cookie is a piece of data stored on a user’s computer that is tied to information about the user.

Web beacons are objects that are embedded in a webpage or email that are invisible to the user, but allow checking that a user has viewed the page or email. Other names are web bug, tracking bug, tag or page tag.

This website does use cookies. Additionally, it may use cookies or web beacons set by affiliates (for example, Amazon affiliates or advertisers). This site has no access to, or control of advertisers’ web cookies or web beacons.

If you wish to disable cookies, you may do so through your individual browser options. Please check your browser’s help section for instructions on how to do this.
